GAME PREVIEW By Norm Weber

LAKEWOOD – As the St. Edward football team prepares for Friday's big-school state championship game, the practices are tense, because they know that this isn't just any game.

The Eagles (14-1) are looking to three-peat against the same school they defeated in the title games in both 2021 and '22, Springfield, located near Wittenberg and Miami Universities. While Springfield is the same school, the team is made up of different players.

"They are a different team from last year, offensively for sure," St. Edward Head Coach Tom Lombardo said. "They rely more heavily on the run this year. The offensive line is basically all back. They are more schooled with all that experience."

The opponent has different weapons this year. The Wildcats have Aaron Scott returning at cornerback.

Scott's an Ohio State recruit who also plays offense, some as a quarterback and some as a receiver.

Their top running back is Bay Bay Norman, someone's name that will get mentioned offensively.

"He (Norman) is something special," Lombardo said. "They have a slew of good receivers. They always do."

The Wildcats seem to have something of everything.

"They do," Coach Lombardo said. "They are playing really well."

The Eagles' offense has been dominant in the playoffs, scoring at least 26 points in each game. The Wildcats' defense is ready to challenge.

"Defensively they are just like they have been in the past,"

Coach Lombardo said. "They have a really good secondary. They are quick to the ball. The linebackers fill in the gaps well."

Jackson Heims is back. He started as a freshman and is a junior now. He plays a strong side defensive end. He's a solid edge player.

After two years of playing each other in the state championship game, the Eagles (14-1) and Wildcats (10-5) have come to know each other well, and what each person or each can do in a group.

"There's familiarity obviously," the coach said. "They can play confident that they can get us. It was two close games."

The Eagles won 23-13 in 2021. They repeated with a 28-14 win in '22.

Even though one team might be different or some personnel has changed, it is still St. Edward versus Springfield for the third consecutive year. Some of the sophomores two years ago played on the varsity and are now seniors.

"Yes, there is some familiarity in terms of sets of what they are about, what they want to do with the type of athletes they have and how they play," Coach Lombardo said. "Their scheme is different on offense this year. Last year they were mostly empty and throwing the ball a lot. They have the slew of receivers, one going to Kentucky. They can still do that this year, but they are not doing it the same way."

Although Springfield is a run-oriented team, the quarterback, Brent Upshaw, doesn't run much, so it will be chiefly the tailback.

"He doesn't run much and has been injured, but he is getting better each game," Coach Lombardo said.

"He's not much of a running threat, but they do put Aaron Scott (#5) at quarterback. He is a threat when he does in as the wildcat quarterback."

Upshaw ran one time for a four-yard loss against Moeller last week.

The Eagles are going into this with enthusiasm and excitement, obviously.

"How can they not be? If you are great for one night, you'll be great for a lifetime," Coach Lombardo said. "It's (three-peat) something that hasn't been done in St. Ed's history, and very rarely done in Ohio history. We're excited. I'm excited. I think we want to stay focused, prepare as well as we can and play as well as we can Friday night. The game will be at 7:30 Friday night inside Tom Benson Hall of Fame stadium.
